

Brian Rogers imagery

Brian Rogers Imagery - Photographer and Artist in North Northumberland

Brian Rogers Imagery

Browse

PHOTO GALLERY 2

Abstract waterfall
£15.00

The white suggests purity whilst the brown is an unwanted addition. The speed, direction of flow and combined colours form a striking design. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Against the elements
£15.00

Taken in the Cheviot Hills. How long has this tree stood up to the battering of the westerly winds and how does it still stand? [\[Product Details...\]](#)

E.T. meets the frog?
£15.00

From the series 'Northumberland Rock' featuring natural rock strata in which people see different images. Here E.T. meets a frog? [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Frost on seaweed
£15.00

We tend not to associate frost with seaweed, but it makes a striking composition. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

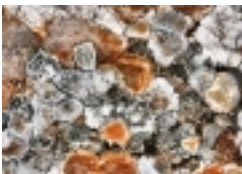

Lifebelt
£15.00

Lifebelt. No matter what the weather or state of the structure it is nice to know that the lifebelt and rope are always ready for action. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Lone boat
£15.00

Lone boat. The clouds, the sky, the ripples combine to make the boat look very isolated. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Mosaic
£15.00

Mosaic. How can nature make such a beautiful object? [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Mr. Punch?
£15.00

Again from 'Northumberland Rock', Mr.Punch (as in Punch and Judy) breathes hot air or looked at from a different angle, is it a death mask? [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Where snow meets the bogs

£15.00

Where snow meets the bogs. On the tops of the Cheviot hills the peat bogs can be very deep. A covering of snow and ice softens and changes the landscape for the viewer, but remains dangerous for the unwary. [\[Product Details...\]](#)